Jeweler revives 160-year-old church

Regional Community Center. McTeigue & McClelland general manager John Reynolds said the church had previously turned down some offers on the building that would have significantly altered it or demolished it. But his company struck a deal with the church that committed McTeigue & McClelland to "preserve the exterior as best we can."

for over 20 years, specializing in diamonds and estate jewelry. Having established a reputation as an expert with an eye for quality, McTeigue was hired by Harry Winston as an estate jewelry buyer and later became the Director of Purchasing.

McClelland grew up in family of artists and at an
